New product offerings

Powery year, tile and stone companies continue to push boundaries when it comes to the design of their new products. Whether it's in regard to a pattern, shape or size, product lines are continuously improving and expanding. Wood-look tiles still remain one of the most trending looks, while other textured patterns are beginning to gain momentum. Below is just a sample of some of the most innovative items on today's market.

Do Up is the first project carried out entirely using Wall&Porcelain, the new ceramic technology from Caramics of faily-branded manufacture ABK that combines the quality of porcelain with the functionality of wall tiles. However, rather than a normal wall tile collection, it is a kind of Look Book containing constantly evolving ideas that provide atylistic and creative inspiration for interior design and surface coverings. Do Up Mamory, hapited by wirtage wallpager, combines timeworn appeal with a uniquely contemporary touch. Available in two blooks reversions, Memory is ideal in crossover applications for creating interiors with an industrial mood, for commercial spaces and for bathroom renovation projects.

Ceramics of Italy-branded manufacturer Progress Profiles now offers the Proshower System, a water-collecting duct system with a floor flush available in five different lengths. The system is equipped with six different stainless steel finish grids, which are all steel and impervious to any corrosion. The particular slope of the system makes the water flow towards the drain, thus avoiding stagnation malodorous and ensuring an easy cleaning of the siphon.
